Dear [redacted]

Recently Carson Eoyang and I attended the Security Awareness and Support Association (SASA) symposium on managing change. While there [redacted] of your staff gave an interesting presentation on espionage. In talking with [redacted] after the presentation he suggested that we contact you to arrange a visit to PERSEREC to give his presentation.

[redacted] presentation would be an excellent addition to our colloquium series and provide those here who have never been involved in the work of counterintelligence with a better understanding of the threat and our countermeasures. Additionally, [redacted] files regarding caught espionage agents are of interest to several members of the staff here.

Please let me know if this proposal is agreeable. We would, of course, fund his travel and expenses. Most colloquiums are held in the room where we had discussions with you in Monterey, but other facilities exist as well. Please call me or Carson for further details or to discuss the matter. We can be reached at (408) 373-3072.

Sincerely,

Roger P. Denk
